The questionnaire consists of two parts. There is the bully scale, which is comprised of 21 items. It is about behaviour that directly or indirectly involves others. It includes actions that are directed at others (bully, callous, victim, perpetrator, bully/victim, bully victim, bully insensitive, bully protective, and bully bystander). It also includes indirect forms of bullying. There is also the victim scale, which is comprised of 13 items. It is about the behaviour of children who have been subject to such behaviour. The purpose of this scale is to identify children who have been bullied (including victims). Bullying behaviours may be directed at others or against oneself (Bullying self-efficacy).
